SPIRIT SHOWN AT COMMUNITY MEETING INDICATES SUCCESS

Prospects Are Bright For New Civic-Commercial Organization

LOTS OF "PEP" IN EVIDENCE

More than 300 citizens of Charleroi testified last evening in Turner Hall that they have faith in their community and that they will support the movement to give it the best civic-commercial organization in the Monongahela valley. Their testimony was in the form of unanimous approval of the sentiments of the speakers who made the smoker in the interests of the expansion of the Chamber of Commerce one of themost successful community meetings ever held here.

From the moment when R. H. Rush said that the members and representative character of the gathering "spelled success for the new chamber" until the crowd was dismissed with a verse of the song "Till We Meet Again" the meeting was notable for the genuine enthusiasm of every man there.

The talks by Thos. P. Sloan and Congressman James T. Begg, the singing of the audience under the leadership of Prof. I. T. Daniel and the brief words of encouragement spoken by C. L. Schuck on behalf of the Monessen Board of Trade, made up a program which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Announcement was made that the next public affair at which the Chamber of Commerce idea will be presented will be a civic dinner in the Elks Club on Thursday evening next, and inquiries for reservation for this are already asked for.

Mr. Rush, one of the vice chairmen of the executive committee in charge of the expansion movement, presided, the general chairman, K. W. Daly, finding it impossible to serve at the last minute on account of illness of his father. When Mr. Rush asked the audience to rise and sing "America" it was apparent that Prof. Daniel and E. S. McNeary, who was at the piano, were going to be more than successful in making the music a feature. The 300 men sang so well that they were asked to repeat several of the songs of the evening.

Mr. Rush sketched the history of the civic-commercial efforts in Charleroi in recent years, saying that after trying various expedients it had been decided to make one more endeavor to create an association which everyone felt was much needed. This had been commenced, he said, under circumstances which many men who had examined the plans felt assured the community of an organization of which all will be proud.

"Charleroi has now reached the stage in its life," said Mr. Rush, "when itmust translate its wishes into action, and we are all confident that we shall have the support of all citizens in the efforts now being made to insure the future of our community. Let us all do what we can to make Carleroi the best place on earth to live in, do bsuiness and raise families."

Congressman Begg in opening his talk said he was delighted to be asked to speak in the district represented by such an able man as Dr. Temple of Washington, an associate of the speaker in committee work in congress, and an authority without a peer in the house on international affairs.

"I also congratulate Charleroi," said Mr. Begg, "on having so many citizens who are interested in the welfare of their community as to come here tonight to learn how they may advance their home town. I know you are not here for amusement—you would have gone elsewhere for that. Your presence can mean only that you are anxious to give some service to the community. A city which will send as many of its citizens to a meeting of this character as are here tonight has started in the right direction, even if it never went that way before."

Mr. Begg said that everywhere he was being asked why congress did not hurry up and do something. He told such questioners, he said, that what this country needs most is not more legislation in Washington, but more hard thinking and hard work in the communities which make up the nation.

He defined a business man as one who is engaged in any honest occupation, no matter what; and a good business man is one who is doing his best in his business. "But good business does not alway mean a good community," he added. "If Charleroi is the best town in the state of Pennsylvania, you men and your neighbors are to be praised and credited for that fact. If Charleroi is the worst town you and the other citizens are to blame. You cannot evade that fact. Any community is just what its citizens make it."

He told his audience that in setting about the organization of a worthwhile civic-commercial association they were engaged in the biggest piece of constructive work they had ever undertaken. He illustrated his assertions by references to his home city of Sandusky, O., and others of which he had knowledge. He said that in 40 years the population of Sandusky increased exactly 315. Three years ago it organized a Chamber of Commerce with about 1000 members. Today the city has grown by about 5000 and the membership of the chamber is more than 1600.

'What is a chamber of Commerce?" the congressman asked. "Well, the old idea was a bunch of good fellows who chipped in a couple of hundred dollars and then went out and grabbed a factory or two, and so added a lot to the population. If it were possible for me tonight to add 10 per cent to your population, that would not solve your civic problems. Your own common sense tells you it would only increase your problems about fourfold.

"A chamber of commerce is an association of the citizens representing every element in the community, banded together to think and work for good of the whole. There is no magic in it;these men arebehind your chamber of commerce expansion movement cannot wave their hands and so give you something magical. You have got to think and work.

"Someone may say 'I am too busy.' Someone else will ask how long he must work. The man who is too busy to think and work for the good of the community he lives in forgets that if everyone else had been in the same condition this would be a mighty poor place to livein. The man who wants to know how long should be told right now that there is no limit of time; the job of building a community is never ended."

Mr. Begg said there were three reasons why every citizen of Charleroi should get behind the movement to make the city such that they could have faith in it as "the best city on earth."

"The first is that if you do not think that way, and stay here, you are liable to raise a family that will think as you do, and one of you is enough. The second is that if you do your best to make it the best city on earth, you cannot honestly look your sons and daughters in the eye and say you are doing the best you can for them. The third is that if you are not a loyal, proud citizen of your home town, you probably are lacking in loyalty to your country, for the truest patriotism in the world begins right in the communities."

In closing Mr. Begg said that everything which resists change is dying, a thing which does not change is dead, but that a thing which is changing is alive—the only question is whether it is changing for the better.

Mr. Sloan made a brief talk of commendation of the plans for the uniting of the community in a team-thinking and team-working organization. He recalled that Charleroi has been singularly free from factions and feuds, that it has progressive, broad minded bankers and merchants, that its industrial life has been healthy. These he regarded as great assets, and he saw in them strong reasons why the people should stand solidly behind a plan for capitalizing the fine spirit of the community.

He pointed out that in addition to its civic, commercial and industrial activities, the new Chamber of Commerce might well assume the relation of the "big brother" in the Charleroi family toward the needy ones. His specific suggestion was a committee which shall take charge of the charitable work of the city. He said that such a committee would have

SOCCER GAME FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP

A soccer football game, for the championship of the Pittsburg district in the Press League, will be played at the Charleroi ball park on Saturday afternoon, January 8 at 3 o'clock, between the Dunlevy and Madison teams. The winner of the contest will be given the big trophy and each player of the winning team will receive a gold medal. The game will no doubt bewitnessed by a large will nodoubt be witnessed by a large and thecontest promise to be bitterly fought.

PASTOR INSTALLED AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

The Rev. Robert J Shields was installed a pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Thursday evening, with approporiate ceremonies. The attendance taxed the capacity of the church auditorium, and the exercises which begun at 7:30 o'clock, did not conclude until 10 o'clock.

The exercises opened with a prelude, Spring Song, with Mrs Earl Daniels at the piano, followed by the Doxology and the invocation and the Lord's Prayer. The opening hymn was No. 300, "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," after which Rev. John R .Burson, pastor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, read the scripture lesson. A solo, "O, Peace Divine," was rendered by Mrs. I. T. Daniel, which was followed by the sermon, delivered by theRev. W. G. Ramage.

Following the hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," the constitutional questions to pastor and people were propounded by theRev. H. C. Hutchinson, who also delivered the charge to the pastor .The charge to the congregation was edlivered by the Rev. J. R. McFarland of Monessen. After the installation prayer and the closing hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," the services concluded with the benediction by the pastor.

MID-YEAR COMMENCEMENT ACTIVITIES BEGIN JANUARY 20

Graduation Exercise Scheduled for Thursday Evening, January 27

DR. ACHESON TO BE SPEAKER

The commencement activities of the Mid-Year Class of '21 will be observed, begining Thursday evening, January 20. At that time, the class play, "Truth, a la Mode," by Sidney Grundy, will be given in the auditorium, under the direction of Miss F. Maud Beck. The Baccalaureate exercises will occur on Sunday evening, January 23, when Rev. E. H. Greenlee, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church,will preach the sermon, being assisted in the services by the pastors of the different local churches.

On Thursday evening, January 27, the graduation exercises will take place. The speaker on this occasion will be Dr. John Carey Acheson, president of the Pennsylvania College for Women of Pittsburg, Pa. This announcement will undoubtedly be hailed with pleasure by the school patrons of the community, as all who heard this distinguished educationalist on the occasion of his visit to Charleroi a year ago, will appreciate the opportunity again presented. Dr. Acheson's fame as a forceful speaker is so widely recognized,that it is needless to add anything further in this regard. He will undoubtedly be greeted with a large and appreciative audience.

This year's graduating class while smaller in number than many which have preceded it, has accomplished splendid work and its members have attained a mark of excellence which is pleasing and complimentary to their instructors. The splendid record achieved is one of which the members of the class may justly feel proud. Of the elevent students whose names are on the roll of the Mid-Year Class of '21, the following five are winners of "Honors in Course," by the percentages herewith given: Howard W. Bradley, 94.629 per cent; Mary Berryman 93.34 per cent; Irwin Lichter, 93.121 per cent; Raymond H. Rossomme, 90.188 per cent; Ruth E. Fellows, 90.125 per cent.

The roster of the class is as follows: Howard W. Bradley, president; Anna R. Kirk, vice president; Lillian Audrey Michener, secretary; Sudie E. Zellers, treasurer: Mary Berryman, Ruth E .Fellows. J. Russell Jones, Irwin Lichter, Ruth N. Minich, Merle E. Ryland, Raymond H .Rosomme. Theclass colors are French Blue and Crimson, with "Nil Desperandum" as their motto, and their flower the American Beauty.

The musical programmes for the foregoing evenings will be under the direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel, supervisor of music.

LIGHTS MUST SHOW ON HORSE-DRAWN VEHICLES

Horse-drawn vehicles and bicycles on the main highways of Pennsylvania at night will be required to display lights in the future, as required by thelaw effective July 1, 1919. The Pennsylvania department of State Police will enforce the law rigidly, according to Major Lynn G Adams, the superintendent.

Many reports have been received by the state police headquarter of smash-ups at night between automobiles and horse drawn vehicles that do not carry lights .In some instance lives have been lost because the law was not observed. The state police are determined to put astop to this disregard of life and proper property.

It is provided by law that at least one white light shall be visible for 200 feet from the front and rear of all vehicles moving or standing on the public highways between sunset and sunrise . Particular attention will be given by the police to traffic regulations on the trunk highways of the state.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN ARIZOZNA

Charleroi friends received a telegram on Thursday announcing the death of William A. Seay, which occurred at 9:15 a. m., yesterday morning. The deceased had been a former employe of the West Penn Electric company ,and several months ago in company with his family, had left for the southwest for the benefit of his health. He was well known in Charleroi, having a large number of friends here, who will regret to learn of his death . He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna Ellenberger Seay and three children. It was expected by local relatives that the body would be shipped east, and possibly taken to his old home in Virginia for interment.

National Capitol's Construction.

The foundation of the central structure of the present capitol at Washington was completed August 24, 1818. This central structure and the dome were finished in 1829. In 1855 the early dome was torn away and the present dome was completed in 1864. The two great bronze wings were finished in 1859. The statue of the Goddess of Freedom, which rests upon the dome, was designed by Thomas Crawford, father of F. Marion Crawford, the novelist, in 1855.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Should Be "Brow-Study."

The application of the term "brown-study" to a state of mental abstraction or meditation is said by some writers to be a misnomer, as the real term is "brow-study." It is, however, more probably one of a group of similar phrases in which colors are employed to designate characteristics or temper, as "black-melancholy," "blue-devils," "green-eyed monster," "yellow-stocking," "blue-stockings," "white-feather," and a number of like terms in common use.

Fall Short of Greatness.

What the world calls greatness is a kind of plant which requires the right kind of human soil and moisture and light for its proper growth. Many a youth who was the idol of his classmates and professors at college, because they regarded him as a man of the future, disappointed expectations because he was never able to find after leaving college the right social atmosphere.—Chicago Journal.

Receive What We Give.

When some one asks you, "How in the world treating you?" did you ever stop to consider that your answer is invariably in accordance with the way you've been treating the world? You cannot go around with a grouch on and expect the world or the people in it to be any too pleasant to you. We get "what's coming to us"—every time.

Japan's Man-Faced Crab.

One of the most singular looking creatures that ever walked the earth or "swam the waters under the earth" is the man-faced crab of Japan. Its body is scarcely an inch in length, yet the head is filled with a face which is the counterpart of a Chinese coolie—a veritable missing link, with eyes, nose and mouth all clearly defined.

Lloyd's Is World Famous.

Lloyd's is probably one of the most famous British institutions and is known throughout the world. It is associated in the minds of most people with the insurance of ships and cargoes and with occasional freak policies, which are in the form almost of bets or wagers.

Fox's Intelligence.

When the fox resorts to certain tricks to outwit and delay the hound (if he ever consciously does so), says John Burroughs, he exercises a kind of intelligence—the lower form which we call cunning, and he is prompted to this by an instinct of self-preservation.

Labor's Wrongs.

"An' when I told 'im in the office that me money wasn't right, he says, 'Ere's a ready reckoner—work it out yerself; 'an' believe me or believe me not, but when I looked at the blessed book I found it was last year's."—London Punch.

Cork-Wood Production.

The total world production of cork-wood is estimated at 396,832,000 pounds, of which 45 per cent is produced in Portugal, 30 per cent in Spain, 20 per cent in Algeria and Tunis, and 5 per cent in France and Italy.

There are legendary stories of the university's formation by King Alfred. As early as 1117 there are notices of continental scholars lecturing at Oxford, and it was certainly a center of learning in 1785. Cambridge is probably almost as old although its origin is also obscure.

We are told that there are but three mats of ivory in existence. The largest one measures eight by four feet, and, although made in the north of India, has a Greek design for a border. It is used only on state occasions, like the signing of important state documents. The cost of this precious mat was almost incalculable, for more than six thousand four hundred pounds of pure ivory were used in its construction. Only the finest and most flexible strips of material could be used, and the mat is like the finest woven fabric.

"Index Numbers."

The "index number" is a well-established device commonly used for measuring changes in wholesale and retail prices and rates of wages over long periods of time. It is constructed by securing each month the prices or rates of a uniform list, at certain specified places, and striking an average. Such numbers are usually reduced to percentages. The lowest price known is sometimes taken as a base, or as in case of investment stocks, 100 is used.

The swan was formerly in great favor for the table. The old bird calls for good teeth, but the young cygnet is tender and good. The meat is dark in color and tastes like goose with suggestion of hare. The peacock also was one of the most famous dishes at royal feasts in the middle ages, but it requires a world of basting to make it tender and palatable.

Odd Newspaper Subscriptions.

Greenland hasn't many newspapers of any kind, but the oddest of them all is a monthly paper called the Kalorikmit. (Did you get your tongue twisted after pronouncing this name?) The most unusual thing about this paper is that a three months' subscription costs two ducks, while it requires a sable skin to pay for a year.

One Thing Certain.

Rats Cause Loss to Cane Growers.

Cane growers in Porto Rico estimate their annual loss at $75,000, due not only to the cane actually destroyed, but also to the fermentation set up in the cane juices in the stalks that had been gnawed upon, thus reducing the purity and the sucrose content. This loss was based upon the estimate that only one-half of 1 per cent of stalks were attacked by rats; but in reply to inquiries, the estimates made by different planters varied from 1 per cent to 4 per cent of stalks attacked by rodents.

Do Not Disturb the Silk Worms.

In the Chinese silkworm hatching rooms the temperature is tested by naked men. Thanks to the sensitiveness of their skins these fellows keep the heat moisture just right. As you stand in the vast Chinese silkworm houses you hear not only the sound of the worms feeding on mulberry leaves, but also the actual sound of the silk spinning—the spinning of their cocoons—a sound like rustling rain.

No High Places in Florida.

The highest point in Florida whose altitude has been determined is Iron mountain, in Polk county, which stands 325 feet above sea level, according to the United States geological survey, department of the interior. The average elevation of the state as computed by the geological survey is about 100 feet.

Getting Acquainted.

Alma and Jennie had come from different towns, but were visiting Myra, our four-year-old. The children were strangers to each other and rather slow at becoming acquainted. Myra was heard saying, "Alma, meet Jennie; Jennie, meet Alma; now bow and let's play hard."

Best Weather Sign.

Those who live by the coast do not want a better weather sign than the gulls, which in the various winds that will bring the rain collect in big flocks over the land, wheeling and screaming uneasily. They will not come in on a false alarm, and none need fear they will make a mistake.

Sled for Summer and Winter.

The up-to-date sled may be used in summer as well as in winter. It is equipped with three removable rubber-tired wheels and is guided downhill in summer by reins which turn the axle on which the front wheel is mounted.

With Her Own Favorite.

"Daughter, I hope you will go to church this evening. The pastor's subject, 'An Hour With Favorite Hymns,' should be very interesting." "I should like very much to go, father, but I have an engagement with my own favorite him tonight."

Great Peat Bog.

Smolen island, near Kristianssund, Norway, is a flat spot of land possessed of numerous areas of peat bog. It is doubtful whether there is anywhere a better location for the production of peat in large quantities.

Same in Everything.

No matter how carefully you pick apples off a tree, there's a fine one away up there at the top that you missed. In life, it's about th' same way.

Secret of Success.

If a man wants to succeed he must give what success demands—hard work and thought. If he won't give it he has no right to kick and say luck is against him.

SPIRIT SHOWN

the full confidence of the people and would add to the general appreciation of the organization.

"It is up to you and me," he declared, "to give a part of our time and energy and means to the betterment of those about us. If we cultivate confidence in ourselves and in our community, the outside world will respond by having confidence in us."

Mr. Schuck's little talk added to the inspiration of the evening. He said everyone in Monessen is proud of its civic-commercial organization. Tis was proved by its membersip, now about 500. He told of a few of te principles on which it is conducted. Under no circumstances is religion or politics allowed to enter the body. A reputation for punctuality, brevity and a "quitting time" has been established for its meetings, in consequence of which there is always a good attendance and keen interest in the matter in hand.

"Remember this" said Mr. Schuck: you people over here in Charleroi are going to get twice as much out of this movement for the organization of your community as you put into it. We feel that we have and we know that you will. Monessen wishes you the greatest success in the movement."

The final number of the program was two solos on the concertina by Andy Paul, which won for him an evation of applause.

Arab Puts Comfort First.

The beautiful villas that remain in Algeria are Moorish villas, for the Arab does not care for things artistic and comfortable that other races of the earth demand. If he were given a house he would first remove the doors and burn them; he would next drive a hook into the facade to hitch his mule to, and then he would abandon the chimney-place inside the house and build his fire in the middle of the room, defiling all the walls with smoke. His personal ideas of comfort come first.

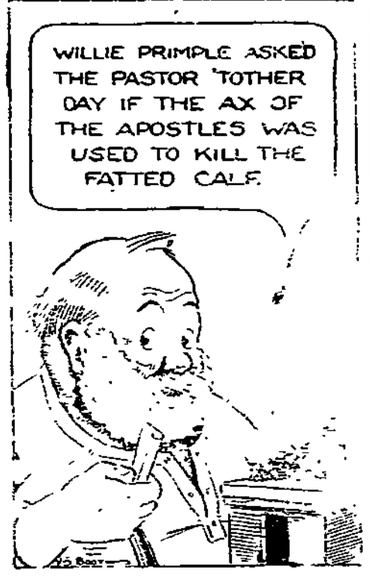
The Algerians are not like the French. They are different in manners, customs, habits and morals, says Charles Divin in the Century. Even the Arab remarks it, and calls all people who come from France "Parisian Romans."

Novel Idea of Aviation.

A certain Francis Lana, some two centuries ago, worked out to his own satisfaction that a vessel, with its air supply exhausted would sustain itself suspended in the atmosphere. He produced such a vessel but there is no evidence to show that his scheme was ever attempted as an air-machine.

Now women and children can fly through the air, and that so simply that the children make pictures of their flight, and think no more of it than they do of going by train, or by boat.

Uncle John's Josh



REPUTED TO LIVE CENTURIES

Hundreds of Hindus believe that Rishis and Sadhus, aged 1,000 years or more, are still alive. They do not care to appear before the public. They are living in some Himalayan caves, practicing yoga. Whether a 1,000-year-old Sadhu has really been seen by anybody, there is no record; but many people will tell you that Sadhus 300 years old or more are still to be seen.

Baba TlaLurdassji is a renowned Sadhu. He has many thousands of disciples, among whom several are Europeans. His disciples claim that he is more than 300 years old, but he does not appear to be over 60. He is a power in India.

A Sadhu of greater repute is Baba Satchitananda Bharati. He is the Guru of the Nepal rajahs. He well remembers the famous battle of Panipat, which took place in 1526 A. D. He has also met Gauranga, the famous preacher of "Bhakti" (religion of spiritual love); Shinaji, the founder of the Mahratta power; and other distinguished Indians. He has thousands of disciples in different parts of India. Questioned as to how he attained such an age, he has said that moderation in diet, regular habits, and practice of "pranayam" are the secrets of long life.

BISHOP CAME ALL PREPARED

Talleyrand's Costume for Visit to the "Wild West" Astonished Those Who Saw It.

Talleyrand, the witty Frenchman whose sharp and pointed sallies kept Paris either wincing or laughing, once made a visit to America in the days before he laid aside the bishop's lawn and purple for the robes of a minister of state. And while in this country he made a visit into the Wild West, which in those days could be found in Ohio. A friend chanced upon him in New York and was invited to breakfast, and after the meal was concluded Talleyrand withdrew to his bedroom and donned the suit in which he proposed to adventure into the wilderness. Even in those days New York had begun to draw sartorial distinctions, and the friend, who was familiar with the modes of dress in this new country, was astounded almost to speechlessness when Talleyrand stepped from his bedroom clad in full dress of a backwoodsman of the century before. The bishop had thrown off his churchly garments for the fringed buckskin breeches and coonskin cap of the earliest of America's pioneers. Where and how he had achieved the costume was a mystery; yet he saw nothing ridiculous in it, was in fact delighted with it, and thus clad, departed for the wilds of America.

I don't know anything sweeter than this leaking in of nature through all the cracks in the walls and floors of our cities. You can heap up a million tons of hewn rock on a square mile or two of earth which was green once. The trees look down from the hillsides and ask each other, as they stand on tiptoe: "What are those people about?" And the small herbs at their feet look up and whisper back: "We shall go and see." So the small herbs pack themselves up in the least possible bundles and wait until the wind steals them at night and whispers: "Come with me." Then they go softly into the great city—one to a cleft in the pavement, one to a spout on the roof, one to a seam in the marbles over a rich man's bones and one to the grave without a stone, where nothing but the man is buried—and there they grow, looking up from between the less trodden pavements, looking down on the generations of men from moldy roofs, looking out through the cemetery railings.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Fake "Josses" for Travelers.

Quantities of hideous idols known in the trade as "josses" are supplied travelers and curio dealers in Canton and Amoy, China. They are fakes pure and simple, and have no relation to any oriental religion. Ingenious designers have produced a great variety of hobgoblins—such, for example, as the "hunger god," with the face of a tiger and ferocious fangs. Most of them are of clay, turned out from wooden or metal molds, dipped in molten glass and allowed to cool. A fairly expert Chinese workman can make 100 in a day at a cost of three cents apiece. The European or American tourist pays $5. Real josses may be worth a lot of money, especially if carved out of jade. This is a material greatly prized in the Orient, and a jade idol 15 inches high and as many centuries old has been known to sell for $10,000 in Canton.

Origin of "Canard."

The word canard as we use it has to do with ducks. A man who wanted to find how much he could make the public believe related in a convincing manner that he had been trying an experiment. He said he had secured twenty ducks, one of which he cut into pieces and threw to the nineteen, who greedily ate it up. He then cut up one after another until the nineteenth, which he threw to the survivor, therefore the duck that was left had really eaten the whole nineteen, proving the insatiable quality of a duck's appetite. From this fraud of a story came the word canard, French for [illegible] a whole duck.

"Mark twain" is a river term used by the leadman in indicating soundings. "Mark twain" means that the water is about two fathoms deep. A story is told that while Samuel L. Clemens, whose nom de plume was Mark Twain, was a pilot he asked a friend who was taking soundings what pen name he should assume. Just then the friend called out "Mark twain," and Mr. Clemens took that name. He used it regularly in signing his stories while he was a reporter on the Virginia City Enterprise.

"Tragic Century."

The sixteenth century is called the "tragic century" on account of the great number of deaths occurring in it. The whole world was swept by plagues throughout the hundred years. Pestilence nearly depopulated China, and raged throughout Germany, Holland, Italy, Spain, England, France and Russia. The "sweating sickness," which broke out in England in 1506, caused the death of nearly one-half the population of the large cities of that country. The century was also no [illegible] for its many wars.

MADE INNOVATION IN ART

This was deemed a bold and unscientific innovation by churchmen of his time, inasmuch as it had always been understood that there was no such thing as a female angel. As a matter of fact, there is no authority for lady angels except in art.

Modern pictured angels, however, are nearly all of the female persuasion; and it will be noted that usually they are blondes. But the archangels are invariably represented as of male sex.

Among all the celestial hosts, only the seven archangels are known as individuals and by name. These, as named in the Bible, are Michael, Gabriel, Raphael, Uriel, Jophiel, Chamuel and Zadkiel.

Michael is the captain general and leader of the heavenly armies. It was he who conquered Satan and drove him, with his rebellious legions, out of Heaven. He is understood to have been in command of the band of angels who, in obedience to divine orders, performed the work of constructing the universe. In painting he is represented with a pair of scales, which he will use on the day of judgment to weigh the souls of the dead.

Gabriel, the angel of the annunciation, has in his charge the celestial treasury. Raphael is chief of the guardian angels, whose business it is to look out for the welfare of mankind. Uriel is the regent of the sun. Jophiel is caretaker of the tree of knowledge; and it was he who drove Adam and Eve out of Eden. Chamuel was the angel who wrestled with Jacob, and it was Zadkiel who stayed the hand of Abraham when about to sacrifice his son Isaac.

PERSIA LAND OF CULTURE

Has Been a Favored Region From the Very Earliest Age—Capital Beautiful in Ruin.

Persia ranks among the foremost of ancient nations that have exercised the greatest influence on the fates of Europe. It has been a region of culture from the earliest age, where traces of the pure religion of Zerdusht which he brought among the nations from Mount Albordi, may still be recognized.

The people who inhabit the southern side of the great ridge of hills have always displayed greater inventive power and greater constancy in preserving their institutions than the tribes who dwell to the northward. The former they owe to the ease and leisure afforded them by a most propitious climate and by their settled habits, not being prompted by a restless spirit to a migratory life.

The remains of the ancient Persian capital, Persepolis, as well as the Egyptian, Thebes, and the ruins on the higher peninsula of India, bear the expression of majestic grandeur and of a desire to hand down to futurity eternal feelings of certain great truths or remarkable events. These elevated feelings are not due to climate, historians claim, pointing to the same countries today where, instead of simplicity and grandeur, a fondness for singularity and false refinement is now displayed.—Detroit News.

Legend of the Lotus.

The lotus is closely identified with the ancient Egyptian religion, and was dedicated to Osiris, no Egyptian thinking of approaching a temple without three of the blossoms in his hand. The name was given it, according to mythology, when a beautiful nymph of the same name, heartbroken over the coldness of Hercules, went to Hebe for sympathy, and by her was transformed into a flower. The Greek hero taking ship shortly afterward with Hylas, a youth he loved as his own son, came to an island where the latter landed, and searched for a spring. He found one in the center of a pool, the pool being covered with beautiful blossoms. As Hylas stared at them, Lotus in her nymph form, emerged from the blossom and drew him to her arms, and then to the depths of the pool, where he drowned.

When a South county farmer is tiring from laborious work, he announces that he is "most dead beat" or "bushed" and asks some one to "spell" him—to relieve him by taking a turn at the work. When perspiring he "sweats like a butcher" and when he "talks turkey" he says things to please his auditors.

When angry he may be said to be "mad as a hatter or a [illegible]" although the application is not [illegible] to the philologist. To go [illegible] a passion is to "fly off the handle" and his oaths vary in intensity from "[illegible] foot, I swow, I vum, I [illegible] dogonett," and "Blame it," to "Dadfetchet."—Boston Globe.

A Fair Trade.

"That's a beautiful bus," said the salesman, all carried away with his own eulogy of the car. "Of course, there may be some little thing that it needs, but that's to be expected."

The prospect looked thoughtful. Then he brightened.

"I tell you what I'll do," he replied. "I'll buy the little thing you mention and you throw in the car. You see, I've bought a second-hand machine before."—Cartoons Magazine.

FAMOUS OLD GERMAN CASTLE

The Schloss Eltz, famous old castle on the River Moselle, destroyed by fire recently was the only castle of the scores along the Moselle that had never been captured by storm, never surrendered and never despoiled. It was built early in the twelfth century, and the territory it governed became famous because of the "peace of Eltz," a peace that was regulated by an oath taken by all subjects of the ruler, and by his own family. The oath provided that anyone who killed or injured anyone else should be banished forever. Guests were obliged to take the oath upon entering the castle, and were governed by it as long as they stayed in the territory.

The castle had four chateaux, one each for four branches of the family, and these circled the castle house itself. Many legends grew from the old walls, the best known being that of Agnes, a beautiful girl who refused to wed with a rival lord, and when the lover appeared at the castle gates with an army to seize her she donned armor and led the attack that resulted in his death and the defeat of his army. As the soldiers fled, however, a bowman turned and sent an arrow that found a place in the heart of the girl. Her armor is still shown at the castle with the hole in the breast where the arrow entered.

EARLY EGYPTIANS AND MUSIC

We first hear of music in the land of the pyramids at the beginning of the nineteenth dynasty, about 1350 B. C., when the power of Egypt, which had been steadily mounting during the eighteenth dynasty, had reached its height under Rameses II. Passing down the crowded streets, where, through the open shop fronts, we may see the artisans in thousands at work at their laborious daily tasks, let us go in quest of music. We may traverse the busy streets of Thebes or Heliopolis in vain, and it is not till the shades of evening fall and the entertainments of the wealthy begin that we discover the existence of music in Egypt at all. We have to penetrate some brilliantly lighted hall full of guests and attendant slaves; and at the far end of the luxurious room we shall see a band of men and women playing on their instruments, amid all the clatter of the dishes and the chatter of the guests. They are all slaves, and before each piece they play they do obeisance to the master of the house. The business of these slaves is to attend the banquets of the great and play and sing for the amusement of the company. We find them constantly represented in sculpture in groups of from two to eight persons—some women and some men—playing on various instruments, as the harp, pipe, flute, etc.

Borneo's Housing Problem.

Housekeeping in Borneo has its complications. As a rule a large number of families live under one roof. On an average there are 40, but instances have been known in which as many as 400 persons were living together in a single community house. The houses are constructed on piles, with ladders leading to the outer uncovered veranda, which runs the entire length of the house. The veranda is used more or less as a public highway. Anyone passing through the village may climb up the ladder at one end, walk along it and climb down the other end in the most casual manner. Just back of it lies a covered portion of the house, and here most of the work is carried on. Opening from the veranda is a series of doors leading into separate rooms, one belonging to each family. Here the Dyaks do their cooking, eating and sleeping, except that unmarried girls usually sleep in a loft reached from the rooms, while the boys occupy the inner veranda.

The founder of Pennsylvania, William Penn, was born in London Oct. 14, 1644, and when he came to America in 1682 he was yet a young man. He stayed here for two years and then returned to England, but returned in 1699 and lived in Philadelphia and at Penn's Manor, near Bristol, for about two years, when he returned to England, where he remained until his death at Ruscombe, Berkshire, in 1718. Penn was married twice and had four sons. His humanitarianism made him famous and his dealings with the Indians strikingly shows one of the many great principles of his life. Penn was a Quaker, and it is said that never a drop of Quaker blood was shed by the savages in all the wars against the white men of the English colonies during one hundred years and that no treaty made by Penn with the Indians was ever broken.—Chicago Journal.

Her First Thought.

A woman from the middle West spent a few weeks in Gloucester last summer and in conversation with a new acquaintance she made known the fact that it was her very first glimpse of the ocean.

"It must have been quite a treat," remarked the other. "And how did the ocean impress you?"

"Well," was the reply, "when I saw the amount of water they have here it struck me that fish might be a little cheaper."—Boston Transcript.

Questions.

TETANUS OR (LOCKJAW)

The testimony of Dr. Bruce Randall was responsible for the verdict of acquittal in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Slade, charged with homicide.

The victim died from Tetanus or Lockjaw.

The prosecution urged conviction upon the ground that the wound, though trifling, was the direct cause of death, because of lockjaw which followed it. The defense proved that the Lockjaw could have been prevented. The following is an extract from the stenographer's notes on the testimony of Dr. Randall:

Q. "What is the cause of Tetanus?"

Q. "Any kind of a wound?"

A. "Yes. There is, however, little danger of Tetanus infection of surface wounds, such as scratches, cuts from a razor or the like."

A. "When they are not kept clean. When they are bound with filthy rags. When the wound is brought in contact with stable manure or garden soil."

Q. "Why stable manure or garden soil?"

A. "Germs of Tetanus are found in manure, especially that of horse stables—in ground, more particularly garden soil, which is often highly fertilized with stable manure."

Q. "In what class of wounds is there the greatest probability of the development of Tetanus?"

Q. "Will you cite an instance?"

A. "A gunshot wound, especially one carrying into it bits of clothing, wad, and burnt powder, or in the case of the toy pistol, clay. Of course, the presence of Tetanus germs is necessary."

Q. "If Tetanus germs were present, either on the wad or the clothing or the missile, would they be destroyed by the heat of the charge?"

A. "The germ of Tetanus can withstand a considerable amount of boiling without losing its vitality."

Q. "Explain to the jury the steps in the development of a case of Tetanus from such cause as you have described."

A. "When germs of Tetanus are introduced into a wound and conditions are favorable for their multiplication, as they grow in numbers they throw off toxin or poison which is taken up by the nerves communicating with the wound, and travels along the nerve trunk until it reaches the nerve centers. Stiffness of the neck and jaw is first noticed followed by spasm or convulsions, which may become general."

Q. "Is there any cure for Tetanus?"

A. "None dependable after the disease is established."

Q. "Can you prevent Tetanus even if the germs get into the body?"

A. "Tetanus Antitoxin, if injected early and in sufficient quantity, will prevent the development of Tetanus. The wound or entrance must be cleaned and cared for surgically."

Q. "How did you treat gunshot wounds when you were a surgeon in the army?"

A. "We gave an immediate injection of 1000 units of Tetanus Antitoxin, followed by a second ten days later. This saved thousands of lives."

Cross-examination failed to alter the testimony. It was previously established that Tetanus Antitoxin had not been used. The verdict was followed by the discharge of the prisoner.

Tetanus may be acute or chronic. The acute form develops rapidly often within a few days, and is nearly always fatal. Chronic cases are slower of development—from ten days to five weeks, and about half the cases get well.

Deep torn bruised wounds, especially those in which foreign bodies such as glass, earth or splinters of wood are embedded and which are not healed by a surgeon are more apt to be sources of infection than superficial wounds.

All wounds should be kept cleansed and protected by suitable bandages.

Tetanus Antitoxin can be procured free upon application by a physician for citizens of Pennsylvania unable to provide it for themselves

As to Immortality.

If I am wrong in thinking the human soul immortal, I am glad to be wrong; nor will I allow the mistake which gives me so much pleasure to be wrested from me as long as I live. But if when dead, as some insignificant philosophers think, I am to be without sensation, I am not afraid of dead philosophers deriding my errors. Again, if we are not to be immortal it is nevertheless what a man must wish—to have his life end at its proper time. For nature puts a limit to living as to everything else.—Cicero "On Old Age."

Many Shoes Made From One.

When a Mexican automobile refuses to wear an old shoe any longer, the shoe is sold for a few cents to a poor native; whereupon he and his family wear it. He cuts the shoe into thick slices which vary according to the size of the family's feet; thus out of one shoe he makes many. They retain their natural shape and are bound around the feet with thongs. In rainy weather nonskid shoes are worn by some of the more prosperous natives —Popular Science Monthly.

No Longer Popular.

No matter how black or threatening the outlook, keep working, keep visualizing your life dream, and some unexpected way will surely open for its fulfillment. The abiding faith in a power which will bring things out right in the end, which will harmonize discord, has always been strong in men and women who have done great things in the world.—Orison Swett Marden, in Chicago Daily News.

Didn't Have the Price.

Returning home from the dentist's, where he had gone to have a loose tooth drawn, little Raymond reported as follows: "The doctor told me 'fore he began that if I cried or screamed it would cost me a dollar, but if I was a good boy it would be only 50 cents. "Did you scream?" his mother asked. "How could I?" answered Ray; "you only gave me 50 cents."

Makes a Handy Tool.

From an old screwdriver may be made a handy tool for turning castellated nuts that are inaccessibly located. A slot is ground in the business end of the screwdriver of such a size that as the bolt comes through the nut its end enters the opening, where it does not interfere with the wielding of the turning tool.

Egyptians First in Field.

The earliest objects that civilization possesses in the way of ancient pottery show that the Egyptians were probably the first to use glazes, but the practice may have originated independently wherever a knowledge of early glazes were of the alkaline type, which had to be first fused into a glass before it could be applied to pottery.

Original "Humpty Dumpty."

The original of the Mother Goose melody was a satire on James II of England, who fled for aid to the court of Louis XIV of France, then the most powerful monarch of Europe, but "all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put Humpty Dumpty together again."

Wanted Prolonged Stay.

Much to his delight, Bennie had been allowed to spend the night with his grandmother. Next morning when the time came for him to return home he said: "Grandma, I am not ready to go home yet. I want to stay two all nights."

Why Cat Does Not Get Fat.

Despite the fact that a cat rarely moves, it seldom becomes as fat as a dog would under similar circumstances. This is because its immobility is not that of inaction: its nerves are working while its muscles seem at rest.

New Process Hardens Wood.

A new process of artificially aging and hardening wood, which is a new industry in Denmark, is said to give a quality of durability to timber heretofore regarded as worthless. Ash becomes like real teak and birch like mahogany.

First Negroes in America.

The first appearance of the negro in the English colonies in America was in 1610, when a cargo of negro slaves were landed at Jamestown. In 1790, when the first census was taken, there were 757,208 negroes in the United States.

Sugar From Palm Sap.

In the East Indies a sugar known as jaggery is made from the sap of the coconut palm. The sap is obtained by cutting the flower spathe and the juice yields about 15 per cent of sugar. It is consumed locally and is very pure. Chemically, much of it is identical with cane and beet sugar.

Can Quiet Down Now.

"Three time in four days," says a Daily Express report, "a Parisian has thrown his wife out of a bedroom window." Later reports point out that all is now quiet, as the fellow has found his collar button.—Punch, London.

Birthday Candles.

The significance of candles on a birthday cake, according to old customs, may be said to exorcise evil spirits and insures the honored guest health and happiness and by their number to indicate his or her age.

Jud Tunkins.

Jud Tunkins says some men's line of talk reminds him of a wall-paper design. It's agreeable and even artistic, even though it's the same thing over and over again.

His Day's Grind.

Detrimentals.

Want and wealth equally harden the human heart, as frost and fire are both alien to the human flesh. Famine and gluttony alike drive away nature from the heart of man.—Theodore Parker

Sun Halos.

Halos around the sun are good weather signs, and many weather proverbs based upon the observation of halos are founded upon sound scientific principles, according to a writer in the Scientific American. Studies of the relation of halos to rainfall show that during the summer months 50 to 60 per cent of all halos are followed by rain within 36 hours. During the winter months 70 to 75 per cent are so followed. Precipitation follows sooner in winter than in summer because storms move more rapidly then.

The Perfect Color.

Green is a restful color. Oculists say that of all colors green is the most friendly to the optic nerve. In lands where eternal snows or eternal white sands flash up their glaring reflections, men have to shade their eyes or go blind. But green grass never bothers the eye. One can stare a forest in the face all day with impunity. Nature's greens never get on your nerves, and they never quarrel with any other of nature's colors and tints.

Splendid Specimens of Jade.

A Chinese custom is to place a piece of jade in the mouth of a person on his death. The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York contains a fine collection of specimens of jade from Chinese tombs. In the Indian museum collection of jades there is a large bowl on which a family of lapidaries in the employ of emperors of Delhi were engaged in engraving for three generations. It is priceless.

In a test of the effects of age on cement, keeping more than a year seemed to cause impairment, and cement that had been stored more than two years showed about the same strength as fresh cement only when the sand and gravel in a concrete mixture were reduced about 25 per cent. Mixing the old cement with a 5 per cent calcium chloride solution instead of water greatly increased the strength.

Bread in Variety for Foreigners.

In a tour of the various foreign quarters of New York, one may find a variety of breads: Asiatic smallbread, the blood-bread of Scandinavia, the braised-in-oil bean bread of the Japanese, the tree-pith biscuits of the Mongols. Chain bread comes in links and is the product of the Balkans and South Russia.

Unmasculine.

Tommy had a profound contempt for the little boy next door, who threw a ball like a girl, seldom had on any but a clean shirt, and who generally wore gloves. "Do you know why he's a sissy?" asked Tommy of his aunt. "It's 'cause he looks just like his mother, and that shows he's got girl blood in him."—Harper's Magazine.

WHY STRONG MEN HAVE STRONG GLANDS

New Scientific Discoveries of Vital Interest to Run-Down Men and Women

Why do people become anaemic and run down? Why must many people begin losing their youthful health, strength and energy in their early thirties?

Formerly, the common answer has been that it was "just natural." Now, however, Science tells us that we become old and run-down because our ductless glands become run-down—and that we can build up our weakened glands by feeding them with extracts from the glands of animals.

Everybody has heard of the remarkable results obtained when animal glands were surgically transplanted into the bodies of human beings. Weak and decrepit old men and women were said to have suddenly regained their former youthful energy. But animal gland operations are now found to be unnecessary, for gland extracts can be administered in tablet form.

The reason for the success of this new treatment is very simple. Our bodies are composed of billions of tiny life cells. These are fed by our glands. When through overwork, illness and excesses our glands become run-down this feeding process stops and we become weak, nervous, and run-down generally. But when we strengthen our glands with animal gland extracts, we enable them to feed our live cells, and we quickly begin to regain our former vitality.

Thousands of people are now using this new gland tonic and remarkable results are reported. It is sold at all druggists under the name of Glandex Compound. In addition to containing animal gland extracts, Glandex Compound contains iron and other health builders. It is guaranteed to bring decided results in a very few days or its purchase price will be refunded. The Glandex Company, Inc., 244 West 29th St., New York City.

ISABELLA THOBURN CLASS HOLD MEETING

The members of the Isabella Thoburn Class of theMethodist Episcopal Church, were entertained by Misses Anna, Jessie and Martha Watson in their home on Lincoln avenue, Thursday evening. Fancy work was the main diversion of the earlier part of the evening, following which the business of the class was taken over by the president, Miss Mattie Kelly. Subjects of importance were brought before the class and discussed. A dainty lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by their mother Mrs. Watson.

Painting on Spider's Web.

Painting on spider web is done in Norway and the pictures are framed like any other drawing. The webs employed which are of a very dense weave are found only in few localities difficult of access, and the supply of them is limited

Speaking of Names.

We learn that a young woman of Detroit rejoices in or deplores the name of Lura Case; but speaking of singular monikers it would be pretty hard to beat that of a negro youngster in Alabama. Reasipate 7 (Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.) Johnson.—Boston Transcript.

Relief.

"Helen came back from the seashore without a husband." "And was her father angry?" "Not at all. He was afraid she was going to bring home a husband for him to support."—Boston Transcript.

MOTOR CAR PLANTS SHOWING ACTIVITY

The Packard Motor Car company plant at Detroit, closed down several weeks ago, resumed in some departments on Monday last, with several thousand men on part time. The Reo Motor Car company plant at Lansing, Michigan, has resumed operations after a week's shutdown for inventory. The entire force of 5,200 men are working on part time. The Olds Motor works at the same place is also operating on part time. It is said that a number of other automobile plants, now closed for inventory will soon put forces back to work.
